

Sand Carved Items

What is sand carving? Sand carving is the art of removing material from a given substrate with grit and air pressure. Leaving areas frosted or deep carved to achieve a desired effect.

Many substrates work well for sand carving. Glass is a great example. Extremely fine detail can be achieved in glass. Stone, granite, marble, slate and other natural materials also work very well

- Ceramic tile: Tiles can be hung on the wall as is or put in a frame. You can also use these in your floor. Company logos or other graphics and text work well.
- Clocks: Tile and glass panels can be made into clocks. I have several different styles of oak frame.
- Kikoline tiles and rocks are very popular.
